

HOME SHORTAGE IS BIGGEST PROBLEM FACING APPLETON

DEMAND FOR HOMES FAR EXCEEDS THE SUPPLY AND HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE IN DISTRESS

CITY IS LOSING HEAVILY

Many Families Who Would Like to Live in Appleton are Forced to Live Elsewhere—Real Estate Board to Take Action

While other cities are taking definite steps to relieve the demand for houses, Appleton seems to have turned a deaf ear to the grave situation here. However, that attitude is soon to disappear if present plans materialize.

What seems to have been needed here, as in other public moves, was some one to take the initiative and turn talk into action. It is to the credit of the Appleton Real Estate board that serious consideration will be given the shortage of houses at a meeting scheduled for sometime next week. A committee consisting of P. A. Kornely, chairman, George S. Baldwin and R. E. Carneross was appointed to arrange for a banquet to which merchants, manufacturers and others will be invited and at which the matter will be thoroughly aired.

What evidently drove the board to action was the scenes that are typical every day in their offices. Family after family seek homes here, because they like Appleton as a place of residence. Unless they can buy a place they get no encouragement whatever, for there is no such thing as a house for rent. And now it is even becoming hard to buy houses. The real estate men cannot find enough houses to list for sale. Two had conditions result. Tenants will bid against each other for places that are to be vacant, and rent goes soaring. Not more than two or three weeks ago an upper flat of five or six rooms near town was held at $42 a month, with no heat, gas or water furnished at that figure. A five-room house near the outskirts of town, with nothing to grow about in the way of conveniences, was held at $35. It amounts to profiteering, but the helpless tenant will go the limit to have a shelter for his family. Ten again, with the scarcity of houses for sale, values start to inflate, and he who would buy a house must pay a price that is out of proportion, and which really leaves the purchaser as the loser when the inflation ceases.

"The housing situation is bad," said P. A. Kornely when asked about the matter. "We have got to do something. People come here day after day, on telephone asking for places to live. We tell them we cannot do anything for them, and they leave here with tears streaming down their faces. Tenants are put out on the street, so to speak, because the rented houses are sold from under them without warning. You can't get a lease. I always advise them to buy, but all of them cannot. Besides, we cannot find enough houses to fill the demand. We could sell any number if we had them to sell. The real estate men are handicapped in anything they can do to relieve the situation, but it is the manufacturers who ought to take a hand in the matter and do something. I am sure they will when we get down to consideration of the subject at our meeting."

R. A. Carneross, who is also in close touch with the local situation, stated that hundreds of people are crowded together and discommoded because there are no houses or flats to be had.

"The result of our neglect," said Mr. Carneross, "is that we have filled up every empty house in Oshkosh, where there were plenty, with families that would rather live in Appleton. This city is the loser by not taking care of the people who would make their home here. Suppose we have 20,000 people in Appleton, and through building enough homes, the population increased to 30,000, the city would profit handsomely. It would cost very little more to administer a city that size than the other, with the result that the taxes would be spread over a greater number of people and there would be more wealth, making the per capita tax rate much lower than it is now. This ought to be of interest to every citizen."

"To put it real conservatively," he further stated, "we need at least two hundred houses right now, and even three hundred would not be too many. If each manufacturer would build enough houses to take care of the demands of his own employees, the situation would be relieved at once. The different industries ought to see the matter in the same light. Any city that does not take care of its people is the loser. It is being done all about us, even in the smaller towns, and it is about time for Appleton to arouse itself and meet the situation."

There has been talk among some of the cynical people on the street that the Appleton manufacturers were content with conditions as they were, and did not want to attract any more people to Appleton. It was also said that the banks were opposed to any housing movement, because they held mortgages on a lot of property now in danger because it might prove a loss to them. People who sense the situation deny this, however, saying that they have broached the subject of housing to

Rail Failure May Cause A Coal Famine

Thousands of Miners are Idle Because Railroads are Unable to Move Coal From the Pits—Cold Weather Interferes

By United Press Leased Wire
Pittsburg.—Fears of a coal famine were expressed by operators here today. Because of the inability of railroads to provide transportation facilities many mines in the Pittsburg district were closed and others were producing but 17 per cent of their normal output.

"The situation from a transportation standpoint is the worst we ever suffered," R. W. Gardiner, president of the Pittsburg Coal Producers' Association said.

Thousands of miners are idle. Many of these, it is said, are seeking employment in other fields. Railroad heads could offer no encouragement. They placed the blame on the weather. Just when they were beginning to relieve the situation, zero weather struck again. They said. Snow storms have tied up traffic. Another cause advanced is that western consumers, who placed their orders during the coal strike now refuse to accept the eastern consignments, as they can be supplied by their local mines. This has caused hundreds of loaded cars to be sidetracked.

CREEKS ARE GIVEN FOOTHOLD IN TURK TERRITORY IN ASIA

(By Ed. L. Keen.)

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—The council of premiers has decided definitely to award the Smyrna and Adrianople districts of Turkey to Greece for economic exploitation, it was understood today. The council also decided, it was understood, that Turkish finances will be placed under international control.

Bitter debate on the Turkish question featured yesterday's session in the house of commons. Premier Lloyd George, answering arguments put forward by Lord Robert Cecil, who declared the Allies should seize this opportunity to expel the Turk from Europe, pointed out that pressure from India had been largely responsible for Great Britain's decision to allow the submarine ports to remain in Constantinople.

He said the Indian population of Mohammedans would consider it a gross breach of promise if Britain consented to expulsion of the Turk, and India, he added, was largely responsible for the Allies' victories in the near east.

The premier did not believe the plan for international control of Constantinople would be satisfactory. Expulsion of the Turk, he continued, would not secure the safety of the new Armenian nation or other non-Turkish populations, or the non-Turkish population in Turkey.

The Allies have decided, however, the premier said, that the Turk shall not again be the gate keeper of the Dardanelles and Bosphorus. These strategic waterways, he added, will be under control of Allied garrisons and naval forces.

TREATY FOES HOLD BALANCE OF POWER IN TREATY BATTLE

SMALL GROUP OF "BITTER ENDERS" KEEP FRIENDS OF TREATY FROM GETTING TOGETHER

(By L. C. Martin)

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The "bitter enders" in the senate today have interposed themselves as a wedge between the two large groups whose members want ratification of the treaty and who total eighty senators. This wedge is so effectively placed that the main groups of democrats and republicans are unable to agree even on minor questions involved in reservations. It is in fact a "flying wedge" as mobile as a troop of cavalry and under the leadership of Senator Borah it is placed at the exact spot where it serves most effectively to keep apart those who want ratification.

The senate continued to debate the fourth reservation, relating to domestic questions. Senator Hitchcock late yesterday offered his reservation on this point as a substitute for the Lodge reservation. The Hitchcock substitute provides that no member of the league of nations is required to submit domestic questions to the league. Republican senators declare this is an amendment of the covenant, and not a reservation and said it would affect all members and not the United States alone.

A vote on the question may come today.

The senate will then discuss the Shantung reservation.

Leading men who could do something and that they had expressed a willingness to do their full share.

More than one family that tried to get a house, then a flat, then a light housekeeping room and finally got down to living in one room and boarding out will await the outcome of Appleton's move with considerable interest.

HINES AND PALMER ADVISE WILSON TO SIGN RAILWAY LAW

DETAILED ANSWER TO OBJECTIONS RAISED BY LABOR LEADERS PREPARED BY ADVISORS

LABOR AWAITS DECISION

Three Courses of Action Can be Taken by Labor if President Signs Bill—May Test Guaranty Clause in Courts

By Ralph F. Couch
Washington.—President Wilson is expected to act on the railroad control bill today or at least tomorrow. Union leaders who urged the president to veto the act and railroad executives are anxiously awaiting the decision from the white house.

The railroad administration is rushing planes to turn the roads back to private control at 12:01 a. m. Monday. Preparations have been made to discontinue on Monday all departments of the railroad administration except the liquidation division.

Railroad Director Hines and Attorney General Palmer have advised the president to sign the bill and make it law. It was learned today from a source usually reliable.

Announcement that Wilson has signed the bill will automatically set in motion administrative machinery of the interstate commerce commission, which will have new powers to control and regulate the railroads under the act.

Railroad union leaders who yesterday presented at the white house a resolution against the measure regard this as their final effort to prevent it becoming law.

"We have decided to do nothing more until the president takes final action," said Timothy Shea, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engine men, and a member of the special union committee which conducted the fight against the legislation.

"The fourteen rail union executives, however, will remain in Washington for sometime."

The union executives will wait to learn the views of the rank and file of two million workers affected by the bill before deciding on any further action if the president signs it.

The executives will have three courses of action open to them if the measure becomes law.

"The first," they said, "is to gain through the labor board if it creates, the wage increases their men are demanding. Or they can abandon all attempts to get these wage increases under the bill and fight to amend it or repeal it. The third course is to attack its constitutionality in the courts."

The president's advisers in recommending that he sign the measure, it was stated, took the position that while all its provisions were not satisfactory, expediency demands that it be approved. Financial chaos will result if the roads are turned back without this law, it is feared. Recommendations may be made by the president for additional legislation to improve the federal regulation plans approved by congress.

Director General Hines in making his recommendation to the president is understood to have made a detailed answer to the objections raised against the bill by the labor leaders.

One of the first steps to be taken by the railroads if the bill is signed probably will be to test the guaranty provisions, which provide that profits above six per cent shall be divided between the roads earning them and a government fund for loans to other roads. The numerous roads, such as the Union Pacific, are planning to claim this division is a taking of private property without compensation in violation of the constitution.

PAN-GERMANS SEEK TO OUST ENTIRE CABINET

Berlin—Corridor gossip centered about the suspension of Matthias Erzberger, head of the ministry of finance when the reichstag reconvened today.

President Ebert this week accepted Erzberger's request that he be relieved of his post temporarily pending investigation of charges that Erzberger abused the powers of his office.

Conservative leaders maintained that development of the case into overthrow of the cabinet would not advance the cause of the rights, but the pan-Germans continued working to oust the entire cabinet.

Meanwhile Erzberger's suit against Dr. Carl Helfferich, which brought out the charges against the finance minister, continued. Dr. Helfferich, of Bethmann-Hollweg, former chancellor of the empire, and other leaders of the old regime were examined today. None of them were able to help Erzberger with their testimony.

CANADA PLANS TO KEEP ALL HER FREIGHT CARS

(By United Press Leased Wire)

Winnipeg.—An embargo has been placed on further shipments in Canadian freight and flat cars to the United States because of the failure of American railroads to return Canadian cars during the last four months.

The Canadian Pacific line alone is alleged to have lost 2,800 flat cars to American lines and the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian national systems in proportion. Because of this there is an acute car shortage in western Canada, particularly affecting lumber shipments to the prairie regions.

Another resolution providing for the transfer of $127,000 from the general fund to the road for the purpose of completing other unfinished roads the coming season was also passed after a lengthy debate. The result of the ballot was the same as on the bond issue. The money is to be expended as follows:

The board, by continuing in session until after one o'clock completed its work and adjourned until the November session.

2 MORE CANDIDATES ENTER OHIO FIELD

SENATOR HARDING AND GOVERNOR COX WILLING TO ACCEPT PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION.

By United Press Leased Wire
Columbus, O.—Senator Harding and Governor Cox, Ohio's republican and democrat presidential possibilities, are among those who were to file their names today for the presidential candidates and those for delegates and alternates to this year's party conventions expire in Ohio tonight.

If Harding's declaration is not filed in Ohio, his name will not go on the April preferential ballot along with those of General Wood, James R. Garfield and possibly Hiram Johnson. Harding headquarters here stated that the declaration will be filed.

Cox's declaration will automatically validate candidacies of democrats throughout the state who are seeking to be sent to the democratic national convention and whose first choice for president is Cox.

Entering of the Ohio field by Senator Hiram Johnson was for the purpose of aiding Johnson and not Harding, according to word received by Sherman P. Eagle, a Wood backer, from the California senator.

It was said that Johnson was to be made second choice of a number of Harding delegate candidates who otherwise would give their second choice to Wood. In this message to Eagle, however, Johnson declared he is looking after his own interests and not endorsing any other candidate.

The resolution is a joint one requiring approval by both houses of congress and signature by the president.

It specifically directs the president, through the department of state to "communicate at once with the government of Russia, assuring the people of Russia of our friendship, sympathy and desire to cooperate with them and to establish full and friendly relations of commerce, trade and intercourse."

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Konzelmann, who have been at Chicago for several days, are expected home this evening.

FIVE GIRLS DEAD IN EXPLOSION IN MANITOWOC PLANT

FOUR MORE YOUNG WOMEN INJURED IN EXPLOSION IN ALUMINUM PLANT NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE

PROBE CAUSE OF EXPLOSION

Blast Came Without Warning and 2,000 People in the Buildings Are Thrown Into a Panic—Girls Enveloped in Mass of Flames

By United Press Leased Wire
Manitowoc, Wis.—The fifth victim of the blast yesterday at the plant of the Manitowoc Aluminum Products Company, died early today. She was Miss Esther Rusche, aged 20. Four more of the 200 girl workers trapped by the blast are not expected to live through the day. Those who died are:

- Hattie Holtz, 30; Pauline Momorowski, 20; Josephine Schleisler, 19; Frances Budycz, 19; Esther Rusche, 20.

Physicians do not hold out any hope for the following:

- Emily Becker, 19; Lillian Spink, 18; Blanche Komorowski, 19 and Francis Rysikau, 18.

Officers of the company began an investigation Thursday afternoon to learn the cause of the explosion and Thursday night announced that it was their opinion that the flames which ignited the gas and dust in the blower tank had been caused by spontaneous combustion in the blower pipe. They stated that this pipe has been kept clean at all times and that they did not believe it had become blocked.

The explosion, coming without warning and while more than 2,000 men and women were at work in the building, created a panic among the employees and in the wild rush many sustained severe injuries.

The 200 girls employed in the buffing and polishing department, in which department the explosion occurred, were terror stricken by the blast, which could be heard for more than two miles, and the escape of the majority of these employees was regarded as miraculous.

Only the fact that the building, which was recently constructed, is a fireproof structure, saved many of the trapped victims from certain death. The construction of the building prevented the rapid spread of the flames, which broke out when the tank, filled with dust and gas, blew up.

Many of the girls, who were severely burned, were working at polishing and buffing machines at the time, and for a few moments they were enveloped in a mass of flames.

Their clothing and hair was set afire and in their rush for the doors and windows they came into contact with other employees, whose clothing also caught fire.

The blower pipe, in which the flames are thought to have started, it is said, leads from the various polishing, grinding and buffing machines to the huge tank, in which dust and acid are collected. This dust and acid are drawn into the tank by large fans and it is thought that friction in the pipe may have created the flame.

The factory, in which aluminum goods of various descriptions are manufactured, is one of the largest of its kind in the northwest and is the largest factory in Manitowoc.

BRYAN ATTACKS NEW YORK DEMOCRATS FOR ANTI-DRY PLATFORM

GREAT COMMONWEALTHS DEMOCRATS HAVE MADE PROHIBITION A CAMPAIGN ISSUE.

By United Press Leased Wire
Miami, Fla.—New York Democrats, by inserting a plank in their platform opposing prohibition by federal amendment, have reopened the question of state sovereignty versus national supremacy and have made prohibition a paramount issue. William J. Bryan declared here today.

"The New York democrats," Bryan said, "have given the country a new Dred Scott decision and made prohibition the paramount issue until the liquor traffic ceases to menace the homes of the land."

The demand made by the liquor interests through the New York state convention for legislation nullifying the federal constitution in an attempt to reopen the question of state sovereignty versus national supremacy, which was settled by the civil war.

"For a quarter of a century the leaders of the democratic party in New York have as a rule, represented Wall Street's predatory schemes. The national party for this reason found it necessary to repudiate New York leadership in order to save the party."

"It is impossible to believe that the party is the unblushing champion of a crime-creating business that has been outlawed by 24 states by state action and finally by a national constitutional amendment which has been ratified by 45 states."

Dr. Robert W. Peach, pastor of a Reformed Episcopal Church in Newark, N. J., says there are in the United States 100,000 superfluous church, costing $500,000,000.

College Avenue Business Block Figures In Deal

Saecker-Dierreich Company Purchases Store It Occupies and Two Buildings on Oneida Street—Will Enlarge Its Quarters

The Saecker-Dierreich company yesterday completed an important real estate deal whereby it came into possession of the buildings which it now occupies and also of the building occupied by the Ryan store on Oneida street. The deal included the Saecker-Dierreich store on College avenue and the store fronting on Oneida street. The property was purchased from John Stevens. No announcement was made of the consideration. The building occupied by the Downer Pharmacy is not included in the transaction.

The company announced this morning that the persons now occupying the buildings will not be disturbed until their leases expire. Some of these leases have from one to three years to run. As they expire the store expects to enlarge in order to take care of its increasing patronage. By the first and second floors of the buildings will be occupied by the furniture company.

No announcement of the company's plans other than that all the property will be utilized by it was made.

W. F. Saecker, a member of the firm, has just completed 25 years of service in the building which the company has just purchased. He has had several partners during those years.

LONGER TRAINING FOR SEAMANSHIP IS WANTED BY LABOR

SHARP DIFFERENCE OF OPINION OVER POLICY MATTERS DEVELOPS IN SHIPPING BOARD

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—A sharp difference of opinion has developed among shipping board officials over matters of policy, it was reported here today.

The trouble, which started over sale of ex-German passenger ships, which was opposed by Commissioner R. B. Stevens centers around the Rowe bill. This bill provides that any Americans may become seamen after nine months of training or experience and after passing a competent examination. The present law requires three years service on deck to classify for seamanhood.

Chairman John Barton Payne and Commissioners T. A. Scott and John Donald favor the Rowe bill while Stevens opposes it.

Stevens is supported in his stand by labor men who allege the bill discriminates in favor of the shipping board trained recruits. The present man power of the American merchant marine is made up mostly of naturalized Americans who object to having to pass a "competent examination."

Labor leaders hold that the Rowe bill will allow American born youths to become officers before others who would be able to classify as seamen.

American youths trained in government schools for merchant marine service since December 19, 1917, total more than 25,000. Most of these are now employed on American owned and controlled ships.

The shipping board is still operating three training schools. They are located at Seattle, San Francisco and Camp Stuart, Va.

Eight hundred boys are in training now.

SINN FEINERS LOSE BATTLE WITH COPS

THREE IRISH REBELS KILLED IN NIGHT WOUNDED IN FOUR HOUR ATTACK ON BARRACKS

By United Press Leased Wire
Dublin.—Three Sinn Feiners were killed and eight others wounded in an unsuccessful four hour attack upon the police barracks at Timoleague late Wednesday night and early yesterday, according to advices here today.

The Sinn Feiners used freight cars as protection to approach the barracks, it was said and used bombs and rifles. In one rush they attempted to destroy the barracks by setting fire to bales of hay, which were thrown on the building.

About the same time other raiders attacked the barracks at Mount Pleasant, but were repulsed.

Timoleague is a small town in County Cork, on Courtmacsherry Bay, seven miles southwest of Bandon. Mount Pleasant is about 25 miles southwest of the city of Cork.

ALL ANSWER TO WILSON NOTE RECEIVED TODAY

PUBLICATION OF WILSON'S LATEST NOTE GIVES HIM EDGE IN ADRIATIC CONTROVERSY.

ITALIANS MORE HOPEFUL

Believe That America's Interest in European Affairs is Decreasing and That Time Will Settle Boundary Question.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The reply of the Allies to President Wilson's last note on the Adriatic settlement was received at the state department today.

The Allied reply received today will not be made public immediately by the state department, but will probably be given out abroad. It was also learned authoritatively that the publication of the previous Adriatic correspondence today was insisted upon by the United States over the objection of Great Britain and France. Great Britain wanted the correspondence made public next Monday and France did not desire to have it published.

After unsuccessfully trying to arrange for publication on a certain day in France and Great Britain, as well as in this country the state department notified these governments that the documents would be made public here without delay.

This insistence by President Wilson for the immediate publication of the correspondence is understood to have been due to the fragmentary accounts of the Adriatic exchanges that had reached here from abroad and to a desire to present the correspondence to the American people which had the last word in the exchanges instead of the Allies.

Many officials here believed the Allies would acquiesce in Wilson's plan to have Jugo-Slavia and Italy enter negotiations with the object of fixing their frontiers in the Fiume region on a line acceptable to both nations and, failing in this, that they would agree to accept a decision of Britain, France and the United States as to their common frontier.

This proposal was made in Wilson's last note, dispatched last Tuesday. The notes were given out last night by the state department. In this communication the president also reiterated that he stood firmly against the plan of settlement proposed by the supreme council, which would run counter to the aspirations of Jugo-Slavia and, called attention to his warning of Feb. 10, that if the Allies persisted in trying to maintain "the old order" of dividing territories without regard for the inhabitants thereof, he would have to take under serious consideration the withdrawal of the peace treaty from the senate.

The warning was first sounded in Wilson's note of Feb. 10 to the Allies in which he protested against the changes that had without his consent been made in the plan for settling the Adriatic dispute.

In their reply to it, the Allies said they were "reluctant to believe" that the president could consider the changes made in the settlement plan as sufficient basis for withdrawal of the United States from cooperation in European affairs, that they would view such withdrawal with "consternation" and that they hoped the United States would not "wreck the whole machinery" by withdrawing just because there was a disagreement over a frontier in the Adriatic region.

Wilson answered last Tuesday that he would maintain his position with

UNCLE SAM IS SAYING VERY LITTLE ABOUT HIS DEPORTATION OF TROUBLE MAKERS

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—The government's deportation machinery is working at full speed today, but quietly. Many reds are being exiled but with as little advertising as possible, it was learned.

The dispatch of another "soviet ark" is opposed by Secretary of Labor Wilson because the notoriety it gives the reds enables them to pose as martyrs and results in agitation against deportations.

Radicals now are being "exported" in small batches, on regular passenger liners. Ellis Island, according to advices here, is crowded with red arrivals from all parts of the country.

Because of the large numbers to be deported the bureau of immigration has put in service a "red special" train, it was stated. The train generally starts from the Pacific coast and travels across the continent to New York, picking up deportees en route.

One of these "specials" was stated as immigration headquarters here arrived in New York with 79 radicals to be deported.

It came from San Francisco. Movements of the "red specials" are cloaked in the utmost secrecy.

SCHOBER AND ZOLL EACH GET FALL; BOUT IS CALLED A DRAW

Zoll Wins First Fall in 63 Minutes and Schober Takes Second in 18 Minutes

Billy Schober, Indianapolis, and Carl Zoll, Green Bay, wrestled to a draw in their match at the armory Thursday night. Zoll won the first fall in one hour and three minutes, with a wicked toe hold and head lock. Schober took the second in eighteen minutes and fifty seconds with a hammerlock. The third bout of the match was called a draw by Referee Rose after thirty-eight minutes of wrestling.

Outweighed perhaps forty pounds, Schober completely outclassed Zoll in the scientific part of the game. It was announced Schober weighed 160 and Zoll 180 pounds. The Green Bay grappler's advantage of size was too much to overcome, however.

For the opening fifty minutes of the match the big man endured fearful punishment from his smaller foe. Schober went after Zoll's toe in business-like fashion, and the Green Bay man's size was of little avail. Carl rolled into a toe hold, and then for five minutes Schober was on the brink of defeat. His leg was pressed back against his body, but he wiggled out after an almost superhuman effort. The hold weakened Schober considerably, and a few minutes later Zoll was working on the same spot. The second time his efforts were successful, and with the aid of a head lock, pushed Schober to the mat.

Schober came back strong, and after several attempts secured the hold that gave him the second fall. Carl's size could not stop or break the relentless grip upon his arm, and the hammerlock fall made honors even.

Both men took the offensive in the third bout, and Schober again tried desperately for the hammerlock. In two instances Zoll wiggled out of the dangerous position just in the nick of time. After thirty-eight minutes, Rose called the match a draw.

In the semi-windup, Eddie Ahrens, Center farm boy, battled Martin Zoll, brother of Carl, for forty-five minutes to a draw. Ahrens was outweighed eight pounds, but held his own easily with the Green Bay grappler. The match was almost a duplicate of the big scrap of the evening. Zoll, heavy and slow, was no match for Ahrens in speed and science, but depended on strength to keep on top.

Ahrens took the aggressive from the start, and employed the head and body scissors at every opportunity, which was frequent. Zoll was seldom in real danger, however, as he rolled himself out before his position was weakened.

The match was remarkably clean, and fast. Both men showed class in an individual way. Honors were even, and Rose called the bout a draw after forty-five minutes, which met with the approval of the crowd.

Joe Stecher and Earl Caddock, in the person of Ches Johnson and Harold Riley, respectively, two youngsters battled fifteen minutes to an even break. Ches, who is the son of Promoter Elmer Johnson, was a bit scared, it being his first appearance. The youngster is an embryo Gotch, and he put Riley on the bottom and held him there.

The show last night indicated that the wrestling game is coming back and coming back strong in Appleton. Matuda, the Jap, recognized as one of the leading middle-weights in the world, in a letter to Johnson yesterday challenged Schober to a match for the world championship. Johnson is now making plans to bring the two grapplers together here in the near future.

A crowd of more than 700 saw the bout last night, and the bugs were more than satisfied with the battling provided. Tom Ryan, Oshkosh, who was to have been third man in the ring, was absent because of illness, and Rose, Green Bay, promoter, refereed all bouts. Rose proved a capable official, and his decisions were accepted without question.

It was shortly after ten o'clock when Rose called the two men to the ring. Schober announced his weight as 160 pounds, and the crowd roared with derision when Rose pointed to Zoll and said—180. "He must have shrunk since he met Cutler, he weighed 198 then," a fan at the ringside yelled. Zoll looked more than twenty pounds heavier, in fact he looked as the mountain does to the hill when compared to Schober.

Both men started off slowly. Zoll went to the mat first, and was soon working on a headlock. Schober was worrying the big fellow with the tricks of the trade, pushing his nose, rubbing his ears, and being otherwise generally annoying. Carl lumbered after Schober, but the little man danced out of his way and at the same time causing Carl to make futile efforts to grab him. Carl was afraid of the toe, and when Schober clamped tight to the member, Zoll writhed in pain. After fifty minutes of battling, in which the men broke several dangerous holds, Zoll clamped on a toe hold and forced Schober back. The little man broke loose, but his strength was sapped, and Zoll came back again to the same position in sixty-three minutes. The fall went to Zoll thru a head lock and toe hold.

Schober was considerably refreshed by his ten minute rest and started after his man in a wicked manner. Zoll got a headlock but was forced to let go when Schober squeezed "the big boy's" toe. Both got a scissors hold but neither could hold on. Zoll managed to get a head lock but the men rolled off the mat and had to start over. Schober was taking the offensive and after fifteen minutes got a hammerlock hold and stood Carl on his head. In spite of the difference in weight, the champ held the big fellow and was slowly squeezing his shoulders to the mat. Carl gave up when the pain became too intense and the bout was even.

Both boys started after each other when the third bout started but after a time Schober began to show signs of tiring. The task of tossing about 350 pounds around was a little too much. He got himself into several dangerous headlocks but managed to extricate himself. Twice it looked as if Zoll would be pinned with hammerlocks but he got away each time. With eight more minutes left the men went after each other in the most ferocious manner but neither was able to gain much of an advantage. Zoll's strength gave him a slight edge, however. The last minute was devoted to keeping out of each others' way and the bout ended with both men on their feet.

RITCHIE MITCHELL WINS FROM AUSTRALIAN BOXER

Milwaukee Lightweight Stops Len Edwards in Sixth Round of Live-ly Scrap Before an Immense Crowd

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—"Bring on your Benny Leonard" is the slogan of Milwaukee fight fans today. Ritchie Mitchell's battling average against Johnny Bull's lightweight league is still 1,000 today.

Fighting the greatest battle of his career the Milwaukee fistic idol stopped Len Edwards, Australian champion in six rounds at the Auditorium last night before a frantic, roaring crowd which filled the great structure from the ring posts to the most distant corner of the gallery.

Edwards, game to the core, went down four times before a well directed battery of right crosses and left jabs. A terrific right cross, which cut his eye, sent him to the canvas in the second round. He clamored to his feet only to go down again.

In the third a wicked right, which landed flush on the chin, put the courageous Australian down again. He was up like a shot and boring, rushing in, battled Mitchell toe to toe until the sixth, when a veritable cyclone of rights and lefts smothered the Australian and he sunk in his own corner a whipped fighter.

In the semi, Ted Jamison, Milwaukee's promising heavyweight drew with Jack Clifford in a fast ten round bout.

INTERLAKE TEAM PLAYS COLLEGIANS TONIGHT

Appleton Interlakes will play St. Norbert college, De Pere, at the armory tonight. The visitors have a strong basket aggregation, and should give the mill team a hard fight.

The Interlakes have been traveling at top speed of late and are in fine trim for the contest. The game is arousing considerable interest and a big crowd is expected.

ANNOUNCE EIGHT TEAMS IN OSHKOSH TOURNAMENT

Appleton, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, and Neenah Picked to Compete in Final—Last Home Game Tonight

Appleton, Fond du Lac, Neenah, Oshkosh, Menasha, Ripon, Marinette and Hilbert are the eight high school basketball teams selected to compete in the sectional tournament at Oshkosh next Thursday. Friday and Saturday, it was announced today. The winning team will represent this district at the state tournament at Madison two weeks hence.

On paper, Appleton, Fondy, Oshkosh, and Neenah appear the strongest, tho Ripon and Menasha, may upset the dope. Appleton and Fondy appear to have the edge over all other competitors, and the final battle will probably be fought out between those two teams.

The Sturgeon Bay game at Alexander gymnasium tonight winds up the season for the local highs. The contest will be little more than a work-out for Coach Vincent's five, as the visitors are woefully weak. Appleton defeated Sturgeon Bay earlier in the season 67 to 5.

Collector of the Port of New York Will Get Garry Hermann's Job, Sport Rumors Awer

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—William H. Edwards, internal revenue collector, will be appointed chairman of the national commission to succeed Garry Hermann, within a week, it was rumored here following the second meeting of the major league chiefs yesterday.

John A. Heydler, president of the National League, after a conference with President Johnson of the American league, denied there was a deadlock on the appointment. He declined, however, to comment on the probable selection. Following the conference Johnson returned to Chicago but announced his intention to return soon to transact some business with the Yankee owners and to take what he hoped would be final action on the appointment of a new chairman.

Edwards would not comment on the report and refused to say whether he would accept the appointment if tendered.

OLYMPIC TRY-OUTS TO BE HELD AT HARVARD

Expect to Raise About $10,000 in Preliminaries—Only Stars Will Be Taken to Belgium

(By Henry L. Farrell.)
By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—Combination of the final trials for the Olympic team and the national championship meet at Harvard stadium July 3 is the latest plan of the American Olympic committee.

Selection of the Cambridge stadium over Franklin Field, is favored for a purely financial reason. Members of the committee hope to realize at least $10,000 out of the all-star event which will be a nice lump in the purse needed to finance the 1920 invasion of Belgium.

The American team will be trimmed to the very core, officials said here today. No man that the coaches believe hasn't a good chance to place in an event will be taken along as the expenses are figured to run about $1,000 per capita.

According to the present plan the Americans will sail about July 24, on the Lapland or Kroonland, or perhaps on the Finland which carried the victorious Yankees to Stockholm in 1912.

As soon as the lengthy answers of the Belgian committee to the questionnaire submitted by the Americans is translated in full, the committee will meet and take the first definite steps toward the organization of the team.

Selection of a coach or a staff of coaches and trainers will not be considered for sometime.

ZIMMERMAN AND CHASE MAY QUIT BALL PLAYING

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Retirement from baseball of both Heinie Zimmerman and Hal Chase was reported today as the early vanguard of the Giant youngsters began to arrive for their spring training trip.

When Zimmerman was suspended for wayward conduct last summer, Manager McGraw said Heinie would never play another game in Giant uniform, but Chase was expected to be a regular as long as his legs held out. It was reported that both men would be waived out of the major leagues.

Christy Mathewson, acting as boss of the club in the absence of McGraw, was here today rounding up the youngsters of the New York tribe who are to leave Saturday for San Antonio.

CIVILIAN "JUDGES" AWAIT JURY ACTION

ARMY AND NAVY BOARD WILL DISCLOSE JACK DEMPSEY CASE IN INDICATED BY GRAND JURY.

(By Henry L. Farrell.)
By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—If Jack Dempsey is indicted by the San Francisco federal grand jury for alleged conspiracy to evade the draft law, the army, navy and civilian board of boxing control probably will drop its investigation of the same charges.

An official of the board said here today that a change of policy was being considered and would be acted upon at a conference to be held within a few days.

"Since the investigation has been taken up by a more efficient tribunal with greater authority and more power to go deeper into the case," it was said, "the board may retire from the investigation started, or may postpone it indefinitely."

If Dempsey is tried and found guilty, the license issued to him by the club last July would be revoked without a hearing or an investigation, it was declared.

Obstacles were encountered by the board from the first. Dempsey was not inclined to appear in person and the board was advised against "hearing" evidence. The testimony of Dempsey, his former wife, Jack Kearns, his manager, and John S. Hogan, chairman of his draft board, was all sent in as requested, but it was not sworn to and it had to be sent back. It would have been at least a month before the hearing could have been started if Uncle Sam had not stepped in.

DOBBIE QUILTS NAVY TO COACH THE CORNELL TEAM

By United Press Leased Wire
Annapolis, Md.—Bob Dobbie, lately deposed football tutor of Pennsylvania university was being mentioned here today as a probable successor to Gilmour Dobbie, coach of the navy for three years, who resigned yesterday to take the football chair at Cornell.

The executive committee of the navy athletic association relieved Dobbie of another year he had to serve under his contract when he refused to name the terms under which he would remain with the midshipmen for three years.

RADIUM WORTH $10,000 RECEIVED AT GREEN BAY

Precious Metal Would Make Pellet About as Large as a Pea—Insurance Held by London Concern

Green Bay, Wis.—A shipment of $10,000 worth of radium was received in this city today by Dr. A. O. Olmsted, who has just returned from an extended post graduate study of radium therapeutics in the leading hospitals of New York city and other eastern institutions.

The shipment which came via express through the McGurney National bank of this city, was insured by Lloyd's of London, this being the only institution which will insure radium. The London Company will continue to carry the insurance on the metal during its use in the radium institute in this city.

The entire quantity received was just sixty milligrams. This amount if compressed into a single pellet would be about the size of a small pea. The material comes in a container made of heavy sheet lead, it being found that this is the only metal which will offer absolute protection.

The doctor said that the sixty milligrams of radium was extracted from fifteen tons of carnotite ore and required in its extraction three and one-half tons of hydro-chloric acid, six tons of carbonate soda, one ton of sulphuric acid, twelve tons of coal and an immense quantity of water.

The radium is a portion of the supply which will be used in the newly incorporated institute in this city.

NEAR END OF TRAIL IN BOND PLOT SEARCH

IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENTS IN CASE ARE PREDICTED BY NEW YORK PROSECUTOR TODAY

By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—An "important development" in the state's investigation in the alleged plot to steal $5,000,000 in bonds in Wall Street may be expected this afternoon, the district attorney's office announced shortly before noon.

This was taken to mean that detectives investigating the case here have found clues to substantiate their belief that "Nicky" Arnstein, alleged "master mind" in the "plot," may be hiding in New York and that he may be arrested before night.

Police reiterated their belief that Arnstein left Cleveland Monday night. They said, however, that western police were making every effort to uncover the man's whereabouts.

"Meantime the district attorney's office continued to press its investigations of members of the gang already under arrest."

A letter has been received from the chief of police in Cleveland in it was learned that "Big Ed" Furey, one of the alleged members of the gang under arrest here be held for the Cleveland authorities if the charges against him here are dismissed. At the district attorney's office it was said that the New York authorities have no intention of releasing Furey and have refused a request of his attorney to reduce bond demanded from $100,000 to $50,000.

Furey is in the Tombs. He was indicted in connection with bond robberies.

The Cleveland letter said Furey was wanted on charges of aiding a prisoner to escape from the Cuyahoga County jail in March 1913. It said Furey was once convicted on a minor charge in Seattle and is wanted in Tacoma, in connection with a shooting affair there.

The dispatch says the floods have washed out two levees and are now filling a basin of 200 acres. Locomotives, cars and large crews of workers have been rushed to the Volcano Lake levee to reinforce it against the water attack, that will come when the basin is filled.

GYMNASTICS IS ADDED TO NATIONAL GUARD PROGRAM

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison, Wis.—Capt. Carlton L. Brosius, senior instructor in physical training U. S. Army, will in all probability be on duty at Camp Douglas during the encampment next July to inaugurate the new disciplinary gymnastics in the Wisconsin guard. He has written General Holway that he will be in this vicinity in July and August, and that he thinks his services can be obtained on application. Another step in the physical direction will be sending two Wisconsin National Guard officers for the second course at the Central School Physical and Bayonet training Fort Benning, Ga. That course will include eight officers from each department and two from each state. It is not known yet who will be sent from Wisconsin.

The army physical training plan has been altered and is now known as disciplinary gymnastics and will be conducted the same as close order drill and will be part of the daily drill and compulsory in the army.

CANNOT SPEED UP BONUS CHECKS TO VETERANS

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison, Wis.—It is needless for service men to write to the adjutant general requesting that their bonus payment be advanced. There are over 90,000 men to be paid and the payment will be made in the order in which the applications were filed. It is expected that the majority of the counties will make payment of their bonus allotment to the state about March 9 and when the money is received the general payment of the bonus will commence. If any other counties make early returns, as did Marinette payment of the amount of the county's return will be made at once. The first 500 payments will be made early next week as Marinette county's tax for the bonus took care of that number. As the 90,000 are grouped in pay rolls it will be impossible to advance any applicant from his regular order.

MASONS WILL NOT WORK FOR LESS THAN $1.25 AN HOUR WAGE

PUBLIC NOTICE IS GIVEN THIS MORNING THAT $1 AN HOUR WILL NOT BE ACCEPTABLE

Masons, plasterers and bricklayers of Appleton will demand $1.25 an hour for their work beginning with March 1, despite the agreement reached by the contractors at their meeting Wednesday when $1 was fixed as the wage scale, according to an announcement by union leaders this morning.

William Eggert, secretary of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' union, this morning said that the master builders were notified more than a month ago that $1.25 would be the scale and that the request had not been changed. The workmen have not been officially notified of the action of the master builders, Mr. Eggert said.

The $1.25 scale is to be effective in Appleton, Kaukauna, Green Bay, Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh. In Fond du Lac masons and contractors agreed on a dollar an hour as the minimum scale.

It was said this morning that the masons will refuse to work for less than the price asked for and a refusal may result in a walkout. About 50 men would be affected in Appleton and more than 200 in the six cities which have adopted the scale.

Mr. Eggert said this morning that in Green Bay the masons are now receiving $1.25 an hour. That scale also prevails in Manitowoc and Two Rivers, he said.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS VISIT NEWSPAPER PLANT

Mysteries of newspaper publication were explained in detail yesterday afternoon to the freshmen library methods' class of Little Chute High school, which made a tour of the Post-Crescent plant. Miss Emily Cripps, instructor, had charge of the group. The young people, 24 in all, started at the business office and followed the process of writing, editing, typesetting and printing advertising and news copy. The linotype machines, of which there are six in the plant, attracted considerable attention. The young people were intensely interested in the process of making up the paper and preparing it for the press room.

MODERN STYLES AND DIVORCE EVILS ARE SUBJECTS OF LETTER

PASTORAL LETTER SIGNED BY ALL CATHOLIC PRELATES OF AMERICA READ HERE LAST SUNDAY

Ultra modern styles, present day extravagances, sensational pleasures and the divorce evil were denounced in a pastoral letter, signed by all the Catholic prelates in the United States and read at all the masses in St. Joseph church last Sunday morning. One of the signers was Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, sole survivor of the prelates who signed the last pastoral letter 35 years ago.

Under the heading "Social Relations," the letter reads: "Social relations, if held within bounds, tend toward common good and charity. To attain these worthy ends, social enjoyment must remain within reasonable limits.

"When it interferes with the duties of the home, it defeats its own best purpose; when it becomes extravagant and develops a craze for pleasure it is likely to pervert the whole meaning of life.

"A people that lives on excitement and sensations will soon lose its moral fiber. The power of endurance is directly in proportion to the power of self-restraint. And this we surely need at the present time when America is passing through the greatest crisis in its history.

"In this matter we appeal with all possible earnestness to Catholic women. We urge them especially to counteract with all their force of example those tendencies to excess which prescription of plain decency and even the slightest restraint of decency are too often disregarded.

"Neither custom nor fashion can justify sin. If we are prompt to remove the causes of bodily disease, we should be equally energetic in banishing moral contagion.

"Frequently it is the craving for notoriety that unbalances certain minds; in other fondness of display leads to lavish expenditures, arouses envy of the less fortunate classes, spurs them to foolish imitation and eventually brings conflict between the rich and poor."

"The lightness with which modern marriages are regarded is sharply censured. The letter states:

"The Catholic church does not and will not sanction divorce in the absolute sense which permits either of the separated parties to marry during the life of the other.

"The ease and frequency with which divorces of this kind are granted makes it a national scandal. The bond of marriage should be regarded as most sacred. It is regarded by too many as a trivial circumstance, as

NO LET UP IN THE CAMPAIGN TO HELP ARMENIAN ORPHANS

DRIVE WILL NOT END UNTIL THE ENTIRE $15,000 ALLOTTED THE COUNTY IS RAISED

Outagamie county pledged itself to keep 250 Armenian orphans from starvation and with the same spirit that characterized the activities of the war, Outagamie county is determined to be satisfied with no less than its goal. The Near East Relief Committee is waiting for a few more reports and if these do not bring the culmination of the drive within sight, next week will see renewed activity.

That is the position of the executive committee in the drive to raise the $15,000 needed. The county districts are now being canvassed by the committee under Otto Rohm, chairman, representing the Equity and the granges, and it is expected that their reports will swell the total considerably. All of the reports from the manufacturers are not yet in, and a few churches are still to be heard from. The actual total now reported is $9,562.91, and a liberal estimate of what the above organizations will raise indicates that there must be more contributions.

A wonderful spirit of determination has been shown by the ladies in the campaign. Not only have they continued to maintain booths at the banks, but they have stationed one of their number at each theater during the afternoon and evening. This is perhaps one of the hardest duties of the campaign, as it requires quite a bit of perseverance to stand out in the cold for several hours at a stretch, an act which has been done without flinching by those assigned to this work. The results in contributions are shown to be worth the effort, however. Many orphans will be supported as a result of their work.

Mrs. George T. Prim, who is at the First National Bank, heads the list, with a credit of nine orphans taken care of.

Among the recent contributions reported are the following: Sheet metal workers, $10; county schools, $90; Cicero Sunday school, $22.10; Jewish Ladies Aid society, $10. There is no excuse for the failure of anyone to contribute, the committee members state, because if they are not solicited, it is their duty to go to one of the banks and make their subscription. Some people have expressed themselves as weary of hearing the appeal, but it is the public's lack of charitable spirit that is causing the campaign to be drawn over a longer period. What is needed, the officials state, is a united desire to bring the campaign to a quick finish, now that the greater portion of the amount has been realized.

SUCCESS OF HONOR SYSTEM UP TO THE COLLEGE STUDENTS

DRASTIC PUNISHMENT IS PROVIDED FOR DISHONEST STUDENTS ATTENDING LAWRENCE

The chapel program this morning was devoted to a discussion of the honor system. Dr. Samuel Plantz, Dr. D. O. Kinsman, Dr. W. McPheeters, and two of the students, William Doll and Rex Mitchell, presenting some phase of the subject.

The substance of their talks was that the continuance of the honor system at Lawrence depends on the students. The honor system has been found to be the only logical system in a college. But the entire responsibility for its success or failure depends, not on the dishonest students, but on the honest students who should cooperate in supporting the system.

Announcement was made by William Doll of the changes made in the ruling of the honor system by the student senate.

By the new rulings, any student found guilty of cheating for the first time, who acknowledges his guilt, will have his name read in chapel and credit in the subject taken away. Any student proven guilty of first offense, who denied his guilt, will receive the same punishment and will be suspended from school for two weeks. A student proven guilty of second offense will be expelled from school.

The former rulings were more lenient with first offenders, but it is thought that the more stringent methods will be better for the success of the system.

PING PONG TOURNAMENT ARRANGED AT Y. M. C. A.

Arrangements are being made for a ping-pong tournament for younger boys at the Y. M. C. A. this week. A checker tourney for older boys is now in progress. Medals for the winners of the pocket billiard contests have arrived. Maynard Fields will be awarded the silver medal for winning first place, and the bronze medal for second position will go to Edward Ornstein.

APPLETON MAN BACK FROM WINTER IN FLORIDA

H. W. Russell returned Wednesday from a three weeks' trip to Florida. He spent the greater part of the time at Haines City, where he is interested in real estate which he purchased several years ago. He says that property continues to advance in price by leaps and bounds, especially orange and grape fruit groves.

The yield of oranges and grape fruit this year is nearly up to the average. While the people in that part of the country have suffered from several cold waves the winter has been comparatively mild. The number of tourists is larger than was ever known before. The price of provisions is about the same as here. Mr. Russell returned by way of Washington, D. C., where he spent several days with friends.

COMMUNITY INTEREST IN APPLETON

We quite agree with the spirit of the communication from Mr. Wettengel, published in the Post-Crescent Wednesday. His observations upon the city election are pertinent and well taken. Mr. Wettengel's conviction that the light vote clearly demonstrates there is a lack of community interest in Appleton is correct. Although a question of vital importance to the people was presented, public opinion was entirely indifferent to the result so far as surface indications went.

It follows that if the people are unconcerned by an election of this kind, they also are unconcerned about the operation of any kind of city government. They are in a state of apathy touching city affairs. The only time they are awakened is when some proposal or some act touches them privately or in a business way, or when they go to pay their taxes.

We cannot have constructive, progressive and efficient city government under such conditions, no matter what the form. Community spirit and a civic interest are great needs here. If they were alert and assertive no elections would go by default, and neither would any proposal of administration or improvement.

Mr. Wettengel urges Appleton to get together, pull together and wake up. The Post-Crescent believes the best way to accomplish this is through organization. If we had an aggressive and united commercial association or similar body, representing all interests of the city and working energetically and enthusiastically to promote the growth and betterment of the city, we would soon have the community interest that is now lacking.

A DISAPPOINTING APPOINTMENT.

The selection by President Wilson of Bainbridge Colby to be secretary of state came as a surprise to the public as well as to the politicians of both parties. Mr. Colby has been before the public considerably in recent years, first as a bolter from the Republican party to the Bull Moose organization, and second from the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt into the Democratic fold. The last jump was rewarded by Mr. Wilson with appointment to the shipping board and emergency fleet corporation, and later as a member of the American mission to the inter-allied shipping conference at Paris in 1917. Mr. Colby's appointment to the shipping board created a severe disturbance in the senate, and it was only after a bitter controversy over the nomination that it was finally confirmed. The fight on Mr. Colby at that time has of course no bearing upon the propriety of his selection to become secretary of state, nor upon his fitness for the honor. It was a political demonstration against him pure and simple. However, the opposition to him was not confined to conservative Republicans who justly looked upon Mr. Colby's apostasy with disfavor. Senator Reed who had an ax to grind with the president throughout the war also taking the nomination as an affront. While that incident, as we have said, ought not to be revived in the present instance, nevertheless politics is politics, and its grievances die hard.

Mr. Colby should be accepted or rejected for the department of state solely on his qualifications, and just what those qualifications are the public is not in a position to say. Mr. Colby is not well known to the people except as he has figured in the incidents we have mentioned, and there is nothing in them on which to form an estimate of his ability to serve the country as secretary of state. No one can tell what motives prompted the president to make this nomination, and Mr. Wilson makes no explanations of his appointments. However, it can be said, we think, that the choice of Mr. Colby is disappointing rather than impressive to the country. The people would like to see in the department of state a man of force and experience in diplomacy, and with a record of achievement such as would command confidence at home and respect abroad. It can hardly be said that the name of Bainbridge Colby measures to this standard, and yet he may prove to be better than we anticipated. Mr. Wilson's experiences in the department of state have uniformly been unfortunate and they certainly have not improved American prestige in European capitals. Perhaps the greatest weakness in the Wilson administration has been his cabinet selections straight through. They do not serve as a precedent for placing an exceptional estimate upon his third choice for secretary of state, especially when the appointee's fitness for this important post is entirely an unknown quantity.

RUMORED TRACTION MERGERS.

There recently have been rumors of consolidation projects involving a number of Wisconsin interurban lines. Various interests are said to be actively interested in bringing about mergers touching properties along the west shore of Lake Michigan north of Milwaukee, and also north of Milwaukee between Fond du Lac and Green Bay. The reliability of these reports has not been confirmed, but traction officials in this part of the state would not be surprised if a movement of the kind materialized.

The traction problem has become an increasingly serious one throughout the country in the last ten years. Many lines have operated without profit and in some instances they have been abandoned. One reason for this undoubtedly is the building of short lines which served only small localities, the revenue from local business being insufficient to meet operating expenses, maintenance and interest. Within the last few years there has been a distinct tendency toward the consolidation of lines which would afford through traffic, both passenger and freight, between important points of travel and shipment. These changes have unquestionably been profitable to interurban interests. They have been the means of reducing overhead expenses materially and of bringing about other valuable economies. What is of equal if not greater importance, they have made possible the establishment of through passenger and freight routes. This service naturally produces that character of business which is most profitable to all railroads, whether steam or electric, namely, through traffic.

These consolidations are not only helpful to the traction interests, but to the public as well, because the public gets better service and better shipping facilities. There is no doubt but what a merger of some of the traction properties in eastern Wisconsin would be of great benefit to the localities they serve. Through freight service for instance on the lines operating between Green Bay and Kaukauna, from Kaukauna and Appleton to Neenah and Menasha, and Oshkosh to Fond du Lac and Milwaukee would be a real commercial convenience and advantage to all of these cities. There have been many efforts to secure this service by business men and shipping interests along the route, particularly the northern end including Appleton and Green Bay, but thus far they have been unavailable. While it is probable that through service will come in time, even with the existing division of properties, it would come quicker and with better results if they were under one ownership. Furthermore, they would all be operated with greater profit to the owners and consequent ability to improve facilities and service.

EDMUND VANCE COOKE

SHOW YOUR LIGHT
 The guest had left his morning call
 For early five o'clock;
 The porter pattered down the hall
 And gave a gentle knock.
 The guest rolled over with a snore
 And then the porter pounded more.
 The morn was black, the room was black
 And dismal as a cell.
 But even as the guest creaked back,
 Again the black fist fell.
 And then the guest up-raised his head
 And fervent were the words he said:
 "Am I a child, a babe in arms,
 A fool, a dolt, a dunce?
 I asked no series of alarms;
 I need your knock but once!"
 A quaint voice quavered through the night:
 "If you're awake, sir, show you're light!"
 O, wise old darter in the hall!
 You know the ways of men.
 How oft have they denied your call
 And slipped to sleep again!
 You know they are not roused before
 The light comes gleaming through the door.
 Even so for you, for me, for all
 Who slumber, slumber on.
 Who do not heed the warning call
 Nor care to greet the dawn;
 Hark to the summons through the night:
 "If you're awake, sir, show your light!"
 Aye, show your light, be one of those
 Who shine for others' sake!
 The world needs every man who knows
 And knows that he's awake!
 The world is dark, as I divine,
 Because men snore instead of shine!

Confessions of a Bride

GAS, ALL GONE, WE MUST REST ON THE WAVES UNTIL PICKED UP.

I couldn't explain to any of them any reason for insisting that the tone would not turn back when Daddy discovered that Dr. Travers and I were not aboard her. I would tell Chrys, I decided, as soon as we were alone. Chrys understood the intricacies of her father's mind better than any living being. She knew how quick he was to be suspicious and how stubborn he was once an idea had him in its grip. Even if the idea made him quite unhappy, as the notion that I had eloped with Travers was bound to do, Daddy wouldn't part with it until he was forced to do so. He always had to be shown that he was wrong. That was the characteristic, I suppose, which made him so extraordinarily successful in business.

"It's certainly a pity that Daddy took his shoes off the floor last night and placed them on a shelf," I said to myself in fine scorn of the superstition. "He's brought bad luck to others than himself! My goodness! A suspicious mind is about the worst luck a person can possibly have."

"Our gas has run out—reserve and all!" announced Dr. Travers. "We had just enough to get back to the spot where the yacht ought to have been. Now she's disappeared, we'll have to sit around on the waves until somebody picks us up!"

I looked at Chrys. She was white and drooping and much too weary to make any comment on what was happening. Jordan Spence was watching her also, as though he were worried about her condition, but neither he nor Travers seemed to take the shortage of oil as a danger. They ran up the proper signals of distress as a matter of course, then we sat around on the waves, since that was all any traffic lane. Our little motor boat was not in any traffic lane. The yacht, having satisfied the port authorities upon its arrival in Mexican waters, had cruised around on the delightful southern sea as if on pleasure bent and nothing more, and had been accustomed to anchor where she would not interfere with ships bound in or out of the harbor.

"We surely have picked quite a lonely little spot on this gulf," was the comment Spence made as we watched masts and funnels slip along the horizon, too far away from us to heed our call for help.

"Looks to me as if nothing had passed this way since the Spaniards took possession of the continent," said Travers. "And the barometer—" He stopped suddenly. Spence appeared to pay no attention to what he said, but a little later, I noticed, he rose and stood behind Travers and studied the nautical instruments.

I wanted to ask him what the barometer was doing. The temperature I could judge for myself. Either the day was getting colder, or I was getting nervous and quite chilly in consequence. Chrys had fallen to sleep. Spence helped me to wrap her warmly in the rugs with which the boat was well supplied.

When we had finished I turned to him with the inquiry which was forever on the tip of my tongue.

"Jordan Spence, I must ask you a question," I said, wasting words as human beings are accustomed to do.

"About the weather, Mrs. Lorimer?" he replied, surveying the gray sky which seemed to be settling closer and closer to us.

"No! About Boh!" I spoke with forced composure. "What are you concealing from me? At first I thought that you and Chrys were both too exhausted to talk. Finally I decided that you did not wish to speak to me about my husband." Spence looked just as if he might have been wondering just what kind of a girl I might be, and just how much courage I might have to meet a dreadful emergency.

LOST—SWISH OF SILK

(By Margaret Rohe)

New York.—Since the products of the silk-worm have spun up to such dizzy cost heights, no one but a Mrs. Croesus can afford the luxury of undies. Those soft and rosy days when glove silk vests, crepe de chine combinations, wash satin chemises and crepe georgette nighties were easy of attainment to a moderately pump purse are past. The swish of silk underwear is becoming as extinct as the swish of the cocktail shaker.

Just as the male multitude has gone to the extreme length in building wood alcohol, perfume and other substitutes for the delectation of the inner man, so has the female contingent. In lieu of silken undergarments, gone to the sheer lengths of mull, nainsook, batiste and lovely soft French voile for the decoration of the inner woman.

For over a year back during the wartime days clever Parisian lingerie designers have evolved the most chic and adorable undergarments of dainty tinted voile to take the place of prohibitively priced silk materials.

Either of some all-over gay-hued voile or else of white with a band piping of a vivid shade the cleverness of the sets, all hand made, offer charms no less fascinating though less silky.

Now we are taking to their bosoms and hearts and finding them quite sheer and dear enough. The form of our undergarments varies from the Parisian mode. The French woman affects the drawer combination or else the two-piece set consisting of a short chemise and even more curt panties. These little sets so chic and cunning are now being taken up by American femininity though the bloomer and camisole or the envelope chemise still play the most prominent part in the underwear of American women.

The charming French set which can easily be copied by home fingers is of sunshine yellow voile. The short chemise is plain save for a hemstitched band around the top through which is run a lavender satin ribbon and hemstitched bands of the voile run over the shoulders. The wide, short panties have narrow ruffle of footing with a bow of lavender at each side.

A coral voile drawer combination is plain except for hemstitched bands and tiny hand-run pin tucks. A rose pink nipped in lavender is a smart voile drawer combination the camisole consisting of two points, front and back, lavender band and held over the shoulders with lavender bands. The drawers are slightly full, short puffs of pink held into tighter cuff-like bands of the lavender just above the knee.

Irish crochet is a popular adornment of the sheer white batiste or nainsook chemises and nighties appearing in elaborate yokes or else in the tiniest of edgings.

The pink of perfection as to undergarments is beginning to pall a bit. We have been so pinkly perfect for so long. Yellow is quite the favorite among the non-silk models and from pale mazes to the yellow of the sun, voile lavender or blue hued, turns the modern maid into a golden girl and makes her so the clouds metallically one better by having a golden lining.

DRAMATIS PERSONAE

Buck Hiser, the town tippler, who has a beautiful daughter named Ann.

Hiram Nazeltine, reformer, madly in love with Ann Hiser, but conceals his affections.

Locals—Green River

Passed by the National Horde of Quenchers

Time: Closing, midnight.

Scene 1.—Disclosed is Buck in his subcellar sampling some cider vinegar which he has hoarded for medicinal purposes. The concoction instantly renders him murderously intoxicated. He rushes, as only can a can rasher, rush, out into the inky darkness.

Scene 2.—Hiram in his den, keeping vigil, his watchful eye peers thru the hole he has cut in his heavy velvet tapestry, sees Buck rushing toward the railroad trestle, lays aside the cream puff which he was taking before retiring, canters forth into the same murky night, takes a nip of the nipping air and resolves to rescue Buck.

Scene 3.—The lightning express which has on board 365 passengers, one for every day in the year, is thunderously approaching. Its whistle is wet from the hissing steam. "Toot-toot!" Buck cannot hear it; the stuff he drank makes him want to climb things he can't climb the trestle and reels in the O. P. direction. Hiram stands aghast, he sees that in another moment Buck will be ground beneath the iron wheels. Like a flash he reaches inside his red flannel undershirt for the two sticks of dynamite he is wearing next his heart; he lights the fuses, throws the dynamite upon the trestle at the same instant the train plunges upon it. BLATZ!

The Truth About Cold Cream.

The teaspoonful of oil secreted by the skin each day keeps the skin soft, pliable, smooth, young, warm and beautiful. More of this skin oil is secreted in youth, sometimes a little too much; less is secreted as we advance in years, sometimes much too little. Thus we have youthful patients complaining of oily skin, shiny nose, blackheads, acne, pityriasis, oily dandruff, and patients of forty or older complaining of cracking and scurfiness and dryness and itching and coldness and loss of color. A little oil brings out color—try some on the old furniture and see.

Oiling the complexion brings out color, too, when the skin is too dry. Thus abuse of soap and water, and particularly the abuse of alcoholic and other lotions or alleged beautifiers which remove the natural skin oil, frequently makes the skin too dry. Here is another of those interesting vicious circles which make the practice of healing so much busier than it really ought to be. A young woman dopes her face with some mysterious "beautifying cream" or some "toxic lotion;" in due time her skin dries out and looks like the dunes; that makes her use all the more beauty dope, and so it goes.

A clean, fresh, properly made cold cream is advisable for daily use on the face when the skin seems rough, dry, harsh, scaly or scurfy. In fact it is better that such a skin be cleansed with cold cream, provided the cold cream be properly made, than washed with soap and water. Soap is worse than water for an old, prematurely aged skin like that.

Young women often harbor a fancy that some sort of dope is essential for the complexion. If the skin is not dried out or injured by harmful cosmetics, far better the beauty of youth unadorned than any artificiality of modern invention. The complexion game is just about 99.94 per cent bunk.

A freshly prepared cold cream which is probably the best in every way is that made according to the formula for Unguentum Aquae Rosae (Ointment of Rose Water) given in the United States Pharmacopoeia and the British Pharmacopoeia. Any druggist anywhere can prepare this on request.

Here is the formula for cold cream given in the U. S. Pharmacopoeia:

Spermaceti, four ounces and 179 grains; white wax, four ounces and 102 grains; expressed oil of almond, twenty fluid ounces and 138 minims; stronger Rose Water, six fluid ounces and 204 minims; sodium borate, in fine powders, 77 grains. Reduce the Spermaceti and wax to fine shavings and melt them at moderate heat. Add the oil of almonds to the mixture in a warmed shallow wedgewood mortar, carefully add without stirring, all of the rose water in which the sodium borate has been dissolved, then stir rapidly and continuously until the mixture becomes a uniformly soft, smooth cream.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Found: A Real Coffee Friend.
 Is it harmful for me to chew coffee, which I do three or four times a day, about a tablespoonful at a time? (Mrs. G. S.)

ANSWER—Yes, it is very harmful to take coffee three or four times a day. Why not chew grain wheat as a temporary substitute to break the habit?

Save Me, We Have the System.
 Will you kindly put me on the track of a system of exercise which one can do in about ten minutes? I am engaged in a sedentary occupation, and have not yet succeeded in getting that "big asset in the game of life." (Mike.)

ANSWER—Have to keep the track clear for traffic, Mike, but if you will come again and bring your stamped addressed envelope this time, I'll send you the system S. O. S.

Chipped Enamel.
 I have some white enameled pots that are chipped, and my sister says I shouldn't use them, for they may cause gallstones. Kindly let me know if this is so. (Mrs. S. B. B.)

ANSWER—No. Even if particles of bits of enamel are swallowed, no harm is done. That notion belongs with the ground glass phobia—the newspapers play up strange yarns about ground glass poisoning now and then, although no particular harm is caused by swallowing it. Then, every week some one asks if aluminum kettles are safe to use to cook this and that acid food in. Of course they are safe.

Corset Wearing.
 Just what evil, if any, may result from wearing an ordinary loose corset throughout pregnancy? (Mrs. R. G. G.)

ANSWER—Some pretty tight splits are deemed "loose" by the wearer. The evil done by corsets is the weakening of the abdominal and lumbar muscles, which should rather be developed by gymnastics than by the development of the abdomen.

Skeletons of Extinct Bird.
 Of the ten known existing skeletons of the great auk in the world, the United States is the only country possessing two. Greater Boston has these, one being in the museum of the Boston Society of Natural History and the other in the Harvard university museum.

The Boston museum contains also an egg of this extinct bird. In view of the fact that a single egg has brought as high as $525, this is considered a most valuable relic.

This flightless sea-bird formerly was distributed along the northern coasts and islands of North America. In its coat of sober coloring with a vest of snowy white it resembled nothing so much as a short man in evening dress. Since it was flightless, the bird was easily exterminated, the natives relishing it as a food. It probably was wholly exterminated by 1844.

The Chinese begin dinner with the dessert and end it with the soup.

Havana's High-Sounding Name.
 The full name of the capital of Cuba is San Christobal de la Habana. In 1834 a royal decree conferred upon the city the sounding title "Llave del Nuevo Mundo y Antemural de las Indias Occidentales," which signifies "Key of the New World and Bulwark of the West Indies." In emphasis, the coat-of-arms of the municipality bears a symbolic key and representations of the fortresses of Morro, Punta and Fuerza.

In 1650 the city rose to be the commercial center of the Spanish-American possessions, and the principal rendezvous of the royal fleets that, carried on the trade monopoly between Spain and America.

EVANGELISM WEEK LEFT IMPRESSION ON COLLEGE FOLK

HUNDREDS OF STUDENTS ARE INSPIRED TO ASSIST IN REBUILDING WORLD ALONG CHRISTIAN PLAN

The week of Evangelism at Lawrence college closed last night with a stirring talk by Dr. E. J. Helms on "The Sick and Enslaved Christ." Dr. Helms showed that the big things which were keeping Christianity out were selfishness, theological terms, conditions in the government, conditions in the home and in the school, and sin. He made a strong appeal to the students to take up the task before them of rebuilding the world.

Last night's meeting ended a week of Evangelism which has made a strong impression on the student body of the college and over a hundred students went up to shake hands with Dr. Helms after his speech. The desire to enter some form of Christian service has been quickened among many of the students by the presence of Dr. Helms and his strong appeal.

One of the things which focused the thoughts of students on the real aim of the meetings were the pledge cards which were distributed in the beginning asking the students to dedicate themselves to the work of aiding God in rebuilding the world. A large number of the students turned in reasons why the cards should be signed and why they should not, in accordance with the rules of the contest. The five dollars offered for the five best reasons why the card should be signed was won by a sophomore girl. A sophomore also won the $5 for giving the one best reason why the card should not be signed. His argument was based on the fact that the signing of the card divided the students and kept many of them away from the meetings. But his good spirit was shown in the note attached to his reason in which he said that should his reason win the prize, he desired that the money be turned over to the Near East Relief fund.

The nature of the meetings held this week were different than any others of the kind ever held at the college. Dr. Helms devoted his talks to appeals for the "down and outs" in this world, by asking the students to enlist in Christian service. But there was never any appeal to the emotions, the meetings being entirely inspirational and educational.

A large number of students had private conferences with the leader and "definite" consider entering some line of service. It is expected that arrangements will be made for those students who want to enter positions which will lead them into Christian service.

The photographs of all the officers and directors are given, among them G. D. Ziegler, president; Albert Voeks, secretary; William H. Zuehlke and J. F. Schoettler, treasurer; and Henry Hegner, director, all of this city.

LAWRENCE FACES WORTHY OPPONENT THIS EVENING

Lawrence college basketball team faces a tough opponent in the contest with the Michigan College of Mines at Houghton tonight. The Blue and White squad left for the scene of battle early last evening. Saturday night the college play Marquette normal at Marquette.

Lawrence and Carroll are tied for second place in the conference race according to standings announced today. Ripon leads the procession with five straight victories. The Blue and White has won two and lost three conference contests.

A Ripon victory over Carroll seems assured, and if Coach Beyer's quint can succeed in handing another trimming to Beloit next Friday, Lawrence will have a clean hold on second place in the state. Ripon plays Carroll at Waukesha tonight.

Today's low mark was 2 degrees below zero, and nobody knows when it is going to end.

Cured of Dropsy, Bronchitis and Erysipelas

Bronson, Mich.—"I wish to acknowledge the great benefit I have received from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, thinking some one else may try it and be cured as I have been. In Jan., 1877, I was so badly afflicted with bronchitis, dropsy and erysipelas that my doctor had given up hopes of helping me. I was induced by a friend to try the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and after taking it for some time I was entirely cured of all my ailments, and am very grateful."—MRS. MARGIE A. DEEDS, Route 6.

Lame-Back and Liver Trouble

Eagle, Mich.—"I gladly say I have taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets, all with good results. At one time a few years ago I was in California and I was taken with spinal and liver trouble. I called on a physician and he gave me some medicine but he did not help me. "I took Golden Medical Discovery and it helped me so I started for home, which was in Grand Ledge, Mich. I have taken Dr. Pierce's medicine several times since, especially while going through middle life, and I always got relief. Then last spring I was taken with a lame back, it didn't bother me in day-time but I could hardly stand it to lie in bed all night. It was something new for me, I never had the backache. I got a bottle of the 'Favorite Prescription' and a vial of 'Pellets' and before I had taken half my backache left me and I haven't felt any more of it. "I recommended the 'Prescription' to my daughter-in-law and she has taken it and says it helps her. "I know Dr. Pierce's medicines are all they are claimed to be. I like them, any way; they always help me."—MRS. J. P. HANER, R. R. 2.

Constipation and Bad-Blood

Adrian, Mich.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I used the 'Pellets' for a very bad case of constipation, which had troubled me for a long time. They cured me, so I am never bothered any more. I used the 'Golden Medical Discovery' for my blood, and found it a splendid medicine as well. I can highly recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines."—MRS. JULIA BECKS, 610 Chestnut St.

EXPRESS COMPANIES GO BACK TO PRIVATE OWNERS ON MARCH 1

CHANGE IN OWNERSHIP WILL MAKE NO MARKED DIFFERENCE—WANT CARLOAD SERVICE HERE

If the railroads are returned to private ownership March 1, the express companies will be affected likewise, but there will be no material change in the local arrangement, according to W. N. Kimball, agent for the American Railway express. There is possibility of forming two or three companies as before the war, but in view of the economy and efficiency of having all the express handled under one company, the owners may arrange to continue with the unified organization. It is thought that the same force handling the business at present will be retained, as the business of the Appleton office has grown to a much greater proportion than ever before.

Some effort has been made to enable local business houses to enjoy carload service as in other Wisconsin cities, but due to the shortage of express cars, Mr. Kimball has not been able to bring this about. At some points, the express is accumulated in one car in Chicago and then attached to a limited train and brought to its destination. Outgoing shipments are handled in the same way where the business warrants it, and it is hoped that Appleton may soon be accorded this privilege.

RENEW HOPE FOR JURY IN KIDNAPING TRIAL

By United Press Leased Wire
Tombstone, Ariz.—The prospect of ultimately obtaining a jury from the depleted jury list of Cochise County to try the Bishop kidnapping trial was brightened today as the result of new tactics adopted by Deputy County Attorney George M. Roark.

Roark plainly fought to prevent disqualification of talesmen. As a result there were 21 men in the box when court opened today. Yesterday's session ended with two men passed temporarily. Charles P. Mannus, under examination when court convened today, caused laughter when asked what his business was.

"I'm trying to raise something on a farm" he said.

BIG BUSINESS NOT CHOICE OF VOTERS OF G. O. P. TICKET

PROGRESSIVES SEEM TO HAVE PULL WITH VOTER AND WORRY REACTIONARY LEADERS

By Harry B. Hunt
(Special to Post-Crescent)
Washington.—Disturbing reports from political diagnosticians sent out from Washington, to take the pulse of the west and middle west with a view of determining the mental and physical condition of the G. O. P. are causing considerable concern in the Wood, Lowden and Harding campaign camps here.

These reports state that party bosses are for this trio, but that voters lean strongly to Hiram Johnson and his progressive tendencies.

Senator Johnson learned rough riding under Roosevelt and demonstrated his skill by sitting tight in second place in the great Bull Moose journey of 1912.

Briefly, this is how one of the diagnosticians sized it up today: "The headway that has been made by the 'leading' Republican candidates to date is organization headway. It hasn't been headway in the support of the rank and file of voters."

"There is a growing current of opinion that Wood, Lowden and Harding are too closely tied in sympathies and interests with those conservative, reactionary influences favorable to the peaceable progress of 'big business,' 'special interests' and all that those terms imply."

"There is plenty of organization money behind the campaigns of Wood, Lowden and Harding. But there is little or none behind the movements for any of the so-called progressive Republicans—Johnson, Poindexter, Governor Allen of Kansas. Why? That question is being asked more and more every day. And it is causing a lot of talk and a lot of thinking."

"It would not be surprising if an early result of this condition would be the consolidation of the progressive sentiment in the Republican party behind some distinctly progressive candidate, probably Johnson, and the raising by voluntary contribution, of a fund sufficient to provide the necessary organization work."

FARM HANDS ORGANIZE DESPITE HIGH WAGES

Production is Discouraged by High Wages Demanded by Farm Laborers, Agricultural Department Avers

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Farm hands, now receiving highest wages in history, are organizing labor unions in many sections of the country, a survey of the situation showed today.

Wages demanded are discouraging food production, the agricultural department asserted in an official statement. Reduced food production is likely to result, the statement said. This means higher prices of necessities.

Approximately 25,000 farm hands are now members of local unions, officials estimated at the A. F. of L. Exact figures of the number were not available although the unions are affiliated with the A. F. of L.

A. F. of L. officials declare they are taking no direct steps to persuade farm hands to organize. Such unions have been in existence many months, they said. According to labor leaders the organization movement is spontaneous and initiated by the hands themselves.

Reports indicating a probable decreased production are being received at the department daily in letters from many sections.

BANKS APPLIED BRAKES TO FINANCIAL RACE

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—America has been doing gymnastics with laws of gravitation, according to F. D. Rock, of the credit department of Armour and Company, based on conditions reported by Armour plants throughout the country.

The country "was going up grade at a breakneck speed, in danger of rounding the crest and hitting the toboggan for a genuine panic," Rock declared today. The brakes were applied judiciously just on the curve, he said, by the banking system.

Industrial, agricultural, labor and financial conditions of the country now are healthy although "we are bound to see harder times before we see better," according to Rock. A good blanket of snow covers the west, protecting winter crops and assuring favorable spring plowing and seeding. Rock's statement said. There is talk of a material reduction in wheat crop and increased corn crop.

Aside from a slackening in the steel industry, due to the European exchange situation, industrial conditions are deemed favorable by Rock, who says production has increased in every other line.

HEIRS OF JAZZ INVENTORS TO STAGE INDIAN REVUE

By James Henle
New York.—Who invented jazz? "The redskins," says Ken-tio-kwi-osta, better known as Princess White Deer, who is now playing in Hitchy-Koo, but who is soon to lead an Indian revue of her own on a vaudeville circuit.

The princess insists that it was her people who, with their tom-toms, originated the thing that has become a craze, which is the essence of syncopation. Members of the Omaha tribe, she says, had ears so acute that their musicians could distinguish separate beats down to thirty-seconds, while the lowest that musicians of the Caucasian race have been able to get is to sixteenths.

Another War Romance Up To Uncle Sam

By United Press Leased Wire
Kansas City, Mo.—United States department of labor officials at Washington were called on today to square the war-love triangle of Leo Shippey, writer and lecturer.

Miss Madeleine Babin, whose return to France has been asked of immigration authorities, names Shippey as the father of her expected child. Shippey is married and has a wife here.

Secret testimony taken in the deportation proceedings has been forwarded to Washington authorities for a decision.

Shippey, a Y. M. C. A. secretary in France, became the godfather of the Babin family when Madeleine's father died. He advised the family that he had a wife in America, but rarely spoke of home, according to the testimony reported.

When Shippey returned from France he told his wife of his love for the French girl and asked her for a divorce, he says. Mrs. Shippey refused.

Madeleine arrived in America and came direct to Kansas City last November. She advised Shippey of her condition and he again pleaded for a divorce from Mrs. Shippey. Mrs. Shippey offered to accept the child as her own but refused to recognize the French girl.

Proceedings which may result in the mother-bee returning to France, followed.

Mrs. Shippey is now ill with acute neuritis, which physicians say is due to the severe mental shock. There is a nine year old son.

SYNCOATED SYMPHONIES MAKE HER SHAKE SHIMMY

New York.—No longer does the languorous and slow-eyed senorita "shake her little tamborine," as she was wont in the days when Al Jolson sang his song. Now the only thing the Spanish dancer shakes is the shimmy.

And she's some shimmy shaker! Prof. Julian Martorell and Juan Ortega, representing the Spanish Ministry of Education in this country to occupy chairs at Columbia University and Wisconsin State University, say so.

Gone are the snapping castanets and the soft-strung guitars. The "Kid from Madrid" has traded 'em both for a saxophone and a snare drum. Her fandangoes now are full of jazz, and the one-step and fox trot where the feet are non-essential have completely replaced the old high kicking examples of Terpsichorean art.

But that's not all. The Spanish cavalier, or his modern substitute, croons no more heart-breaking lullabies and coaxing love ditties "neath the balcony of his lady. The lady, the balcony and the gentleman are the same, but now he twists his tongue and his guitar to the syncopated symphonies marked "Made in the United States."

In arranging her one-hour revue Ken-tio-kwi-osta will have the help, it is announced, of the Indian Department of the Bureau of Ethnology.

Princess White Deer is well educated and worked with Prof. Patterson at Columbia University in his elaborate laboratory experiments upon the nature of syncopation.

HIGH RAIL RATES COMING WHEN ROADS GO BACK, ESCH SAYS

WISCONSIN CONGRESSMAN AVERS MORE REVENUE IS NEEDED TO MAKE UP RAIL DEFICITS

By John J. Esch
Representative from Wisconsin
Washington, D. C.—The railroad bill which has just passed the senate and house is a most comprehensive measure, taking care of not merely the period of reconstruction, but also the period thereafter when normal conditions will have been restored. The more the bill is studied the more its far reaching effects will be made clear.

The president in his message to both houses a year ago stated in effect that as to the solution of the railroad problem he did not have a confident judgment of his own. Since this message no suggestions or recommendations as to the proper solution of the complicated railroad problem have come either to senate or house committees on interstate commerce from the White house. The committees, therefore, worked out their own solution as embodied in the bill which has just been sent to the president for his signature.

In view of the fact that on Dec. 24 he issued his proclamation restoring the railroads to their owners in March and in view of the fact that the above committees have labored for an entire year in the preparation of the bill, it seems inconceivable to me that it would be vetoed by the president.

While it is true that some opposition to the bill in both houses was based on constitutional grounds, with particular reference to the 5 1/2 per cent return on the valuation of the property of railroads, an overwhelming majority of both houses supported the bill. Even if the courts should find the above provision unconstitutional it would not affect the balance of the measure.

As the government will have run behind possibly $500,000,000 as a result of federal control, and this sum may be still further increased by claims for under maintenance and depreciation which have not yet been determined, some increase of rates will have to be granted through the inter-state commerce commission under the provisions of the bill if the carriers are to properly function and provide the necessary service to the public. There are many who believe that increases should have been allowed under federal control in order to avoid the existing deficits. The country is quite as much concerned with good service as it is with the amount of rates. It is confidently believed that the carriers upon regaining operation of their roads will make a determined effort to improve the service and lessen some of the complaints which have been made due to a shortage of cars and other causes.

The bill does not contain any anti-strike feature. The house, as well as its conferees, opposed the insertion of any such clause in the bill. The bill provides for the creation of a railroad labor board to pass upon disputes between carriers and their employees which should be of such high standing, character and ability as to beget confidence in its awards.

This board can not legally enforce its awards, enforcement being dependent entirely upon the potency of public opinion. There is nothing in the bill to interfere with the adjustment of disputes between representatives of the railroads and the employees. In fact, such adjustments are urged. Provision is also made for the establishment of adjustment boards by voluntary action.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Blanche St. Andrews and Archie Creveche have been chosen by Knights of Columbus and placed in charge of the committee appointed to select the caste of characters for the musical comedy entitled "Katchy Koo," to be given by the local order some time the latter part of March.

Plans are well under way for a social gathering to be given the O. A. R. and Spanish-American war veterans by the local Post, No. 41, American Legion, March 4, at Elk hall. Dr. Minnehan, post commander of Green Bay, has been secured to deliver an address.

Defeat Legion Team.
Kaukauna "Union Bags," comprised almost entirely of Fox Club players, defeated the Menasha American Legion team in the snappiest and best game seen by local fans this season. The score at the close of the first half was 14 and 8, with the ex-service men on the long end. The Union Bags shook their jinx in the second half and came back strong, playing the game up to their usual form. The result of the game was decided in the last 40 seconds of play, when Garvey threw the ball the length of the floor to Hess, who aged it. Hayes starred for the Union Bags with seven baskets to his credit, and Hahn came through with six for the ex-service men.

Crochet Club.
The Crochet Club met with Mrs. W. N. Nolan at her home on Wisconsin avenue Wednesday afternoon.
Girls Lose to Neenah.
The High School Girls were defeated by the Comet Club Girls of Neenah Tuesday night at the Neenah armory. The entire game was rough as well as exciting. At the close of the first half the score was 4 and 3, with the Comets leading. The game ended with a score of 6 and 3, Neenah continuing to hold the lead. A return game has been booked for March 12.

Chicago.—"I don't believe all this high cost of living truck," Exor Matthews, father of 18 children, declared today. "Fourteen of my children live at home. None of my eight girls work. The ten boys and I earn more than $150 a week."

London.—The government's bill for Irish home rule was presented in the house of commons Wednesday. The measure at once received its first reading. The bill was presented only in dummy form. The so-called first reading was a mere formality, the reading being of the title alone.
The report of the commission of labor men which recently investigated conditions in Ireland is a strong denunciation of what is characterized as the British misrule of Ireland.
This, the report declares, "would drive any spirited nation into deep seated and dangerous discontent," adding that "where the administration is not merely unintelligent it appears to be deliberately provocative."

The report sets forth that Ireland has become utterly estranged and the Irish problem, as the labor delegation sees it, "a problem of political necessity."
Abundant evidence exists, the report finds, of the need of action with regard to social matters such as housing, wages, and education, but the political issue, it holds, obscures these questions.

"The economic regeneration of Ireland, which would help materially to destroy existing animosities and speedily efface the memory of historic wrongs," the report adds, "cannot be successfully achieved unless and until the political problem is solved. The fundamental necessity, therefore, is a change in the political system."

Upon the graves of the dead in the Turkish cemeteries little vessels of water are placed for the benefit of the birds, the superstition being that birds carry messages about the living to the dead.

URGES FARMERS TO HURRY IF THEY ARE TO OBTAIN HIRED MEN

STATE EMPLOYMENT OFFICES ARE IN POSITION TO GIVE PLACES TO MEN SEEKING WORK

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison.—Farmers who need hired help this year should get in touch with the employment offices of the state as early as possible, said J. S. Miller, superintendent of employment under the Industrial Commission today. "It is the farmer who puts in his order first and who offers the best conditions, whose calls can be filled most easily. There is no reason for great alarm that the demand of farmers for help this year cannot be met, but all farmers who cannot get hired help in their immediate community should at once get in touch with one of the employment offices conducted by the state."

Last year the free employment offices of the state placed 5492 farm hands. At the present time many inquiries are received from men with families living in cities, who desire to get back to the farm in order to escape some part of the high cost of living. "It is very difficult to place these married men," said Mr. Miller, "because so few second farms have tenant houses." Another difficulty met with in supplying farm hands, is the absence of any standardization as to wages. One farmer will offer $75.00 per month and board, while another farmer in the same community offers only $35.00 or $40.00 per month. "Wages as a whole, however," said Mr. Miller, "are higher on farms this year than ever before."

Free employment offices are maintained by the state in Milwaukee, Superior, Green Bay, Madison, Racine, Sheboygan, La Crosse, Ashland, Rhinelander, Wausau and Oshkosh. These eleven offices, which are conducted by the Industrial Commission, in January, placed 8263 persons in employment. They referred 94 per cent of all applicants for work to jobs and secured reports showing that 77 per cent of all applicants were hired. As in previous months, however, the calls for help considerably exceeded the applications for work; 62 per cent of all calls for help were filled. In addition to the eleven state offices, a local employment office is maintained at Manitowoc, which is supported entirely by the city. This office is conducted in close co-operation with the state offices and an appropriation for its continuance for another year was recently passed by the city council.

SELFISH MOTIVE SEEN IN REMOVAL OF SOLDIER DEAD

UNDERTAKERS AND OTHER COMMERCIAL INTERESTS NAMED AT BASE OF EXHUMING MOVE

By James Henle
(Special to Post-Crescent)
New York.—"Circumstantial evidence strongly points to the fact that undertakers are conducting propaganda for return of bodies of American lads who fell during war," Miss Jane O'Ryan, sister of Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, declared today. "If that is true it is one of the most horrible cases of heartlessness which has ever come to light. Of course there are all kinds of undertakers, and there are some very good ones who have expressed contempt for this propaganda."

"The Undertakers' Association of Chicago, has gone on record as disapproving of the agitation of The Purple Cross and The Casket. But circumstantial evidence seems to indicate that some of the men are above trying to profiteer at the expense of our dead."

"I had an open mind on the subject until I went to call at the office of one of the largest undertaking establishments here. I went in company of Mrs. Mabel Ponda Gareissin of this city, a Gold Star Mother, who has been active in combating agitation for return of bodies of America dead. At the undertaking establishment were told they had powerful representatives in Washington and that every possible pressure was being brought to bear on Congress to influence its action."

"At the same time the man had to admit that even if bodies were returned, no mother could be sure that she was being given the body of her son and not that of another man."

"We are not trying to persuade any mother not to ask for the return of her son's body, but we are very anxious that she have the facts before she makes such request. And the many letters we are receiving from Gold Star Mothers prove that when the facts are known few mothers will ask that their sons' bodies be brought back."

"Facts are that in many cases it was impossible to identify bodies of the dead, that cemeteries were sometimes torn up by shell fire and flooded by heavy rains and that bodies are quickly disintegrating because of the nature of the soil of France. In addition to this we must take into consideration the attitude of the soldiers themselves, who often expressed a wish that if they fell, that they might be buried beside their buddies in France."

"We merely present actual facts in the case and leave it to the Gold Star Mothers of America to judge."

Miss O'Ryan also quoted from a pamphlet issued by Mrs. Gareissin in which the latter, who served in France with the Y. M. C. A. said:

"Maneuvering politicians, undertakers, coffin makers and steamship agents dare to discuss when the 50,000 bodies shall be dug from their resting places, unfeelingly thrown on lumbering trucks, carted to railways, packed in rough freight cars, jerked and jostled to embarkation point, hauled into the ship's holds, which are filled with rats, brought to America, again loaded on trucks, packed again in trains, jostled over the country to respective home towns where for the first time these bodies, so sacred to the Gold Star woman, will be handled reverently."

SEEKS TO ENTICE APPLETON PEOPLE IN SPANISH FRAUD

CROOK ENDEAVORS TO LEAD LOCAL PEOPLE INTO HIS EASY MONEY MAKING SCHEME

Several letters supposed to have been written by a man in a Spanish prison and who asks financial assistance in order to recover a fabulous fortune, were received in Appleton yesterday. It is the same old swindle practiced for years before the war which never fails to catch some innocent victim. The letter reads:

"Being myself into prison in this city, Madrid, owing to a bankruptcy, I should desire to know if you would be disposed to aid me in the recovery of $300,000 in bank notes that I have into a trunk which is deposited in a railway station in France."

"To that end it would be necessary for you coming to Spain to pay the tribunal the expenses of a lawsuit in order that you may hold some papers of mine hidden in a secret pocket of a hand valise forming part of my baggage kept under seizure. Only with said papers can the aforesaid amount be recovered."

"Your reward would be the third part of the amount. As I am into prison I cannot receive directly your reply, but if you accept you can send the following cablegram to a person of my confidence who immediately would hand the same to me."

"Marin-Alcala to Madrid. Received Samples, Jones."

"Fearing this letter should not reach you I do not sign my full name. In the next one, if you wire me as suggested, I would send you all particulars about the matter. In the meantime I only sign R. The utmost reserve and discretion are required. Above all please wire. Do not send letter."

NEW TREATMENT THAT KNOCKS RHEUMATISM

75c BOX FREE TO ANY SUFFERER

Up in Syracuse, N. Y., a treatment for rheumatism has been found that hundreds of users say is a wonder, reporting cases that seem little short of miraculous. Just a few treatments even in the very worst cases seem to accomplish wonders even after other remedies have failed entirely. It seems to neutralize the uric acid and lime salt deposits in the blood, driving all the poisonous clogging waste from the system. Soreness, pain, stiffness, swelling just seem to melt away and vanish.

Exquisite Tones that Thrill the Soul

PHONOGRAPHIC tone reproduction reaches its climax when presented by The Brunswick. Play any make record—vocal or instrumental—and the utmost in tone quality is achieved.

Such triumphant success is due to the Brunswick Method of Reproduction. This is accomplished by two exclusive features. Both are scientific yet simple. They are pictured and explained briefly, below.

The Brunswick Phonograph has built into it the best ingenuity known to the trivance but involves a genuine principle of sound.

A slight turn of the hand presents the right needle, diaphragm and weight for playing any record.

The Tone Amplifier is an oval shaped vibrant tone chamber.

Like the sounding board of a fine piano or violin, it is made entirely of wood and free from metal. Thus it gives the requisite tonal volume and eliminates all harsh, thin, metallic sounds. It meets all advanced acoustical and musical laws.

The Brunswick

It has discarded every old fashioned crudity. Hitherto lost elements in phonographic sound interpretation are now restored.

The Ultona plays all records, truer, finer, sweeter. It is not a makeshift con-phonograph world. It embodies every worthwhile present-day feature.

You will want this interesting and instructive booklet before you buy because it is authentic. It was written by Henry Purmort Earnes, L.L.B., Concert Pianist and Lecturer, Director Pianoforte Dept., Cosmopolitan School of Music, Chicago.

Come in and we will gladly give you a free copy of "What to look for in buying a phonograph"

SHEBOYGAN MAN HANGS HIMSELF

Sheboygan, Wis.—After making several futile attempts on his life by cutting his throat with two different knives, Gustave Kemper, 66, finally tied packing twine about his neck, fastened the ropes to a hook on the wall in the living room of his home, and hanged himself.

The efforts at self-destruction were marked with unusual circumstances. During the first operation he sat on a box and caught the blood flowing from the gashes in a galvanized stone tub.

Then carefully undressing himself and piling his clothing on the box, he strangled himself to death. His naked body was found by his son, Walter, an hour later.

Kemper had been ill a long time and often threatened to commit suicide. He leaves two sons, Walter and Gustave, both of this city.

ITALY HAS ONE STRIKE RIGHT AFTER ANOTHER

Italy Welcomes Foreign Disputes to Attract Attention Away From Troubles at Home.

(By Milton Bronner.)
(Special Post-Crescent.)
London, Wilson's policy in dealing with the Adriatic problem makes it doubly difficult of settlement because Italy probably welcomes a foreign dispute at this time as it draws the attention of the Italian populace away from acute local problems.

The country's history recently has been one of continued strikes. The postal employees' strike ended Jan. 26, when the railwaymen struck. It is not known in America that the railwaymen were already better paid than any state employees and that they demanded bigger wages, strict enforcement of the eight-hour day and that representatives of a semi-anarchistic organization called "The Syndicate," be permitted to sit on the railway board of administration.

The government, afraid of strikes, granted the demands until the matter could be settled by Parliament. Nevertheless the strike was called and the government feared to proclaim martial law or discharge the strikers. Fifteen days' strike held up millions of tons of freight, much of which spoiled.

The peasants on the farms, aroused by the big profits made in agriculture, formed leagues demanding and often getting the highest wages. In provinces near Venice, the farmers defied the government and a real reign of terror followed. Farmhouses were burned, woods cut down and animals maimed by farmers' attacks.

The fall in value of Italian money abroad is so pronounced that the government now forbids the publication in newspapers of quotations on the stock exchange. The depreciation or increase in the cost of living, especially of shoes and clothing.

Today the British import nearly 4,000,000 watches a year and most of them are of American manufacture.

YOUTH TRAINING IS EXCLUDED FROM THE NEW U. S. ARMY BILL

SHARP OPPOSITION IS EXPECTED WHEN THE BILL REACHES THE FLOOR OF CONGRESS

Washington—Meeting the demand of republican leaders, the house military committee by a bipartisan vote on Wednesday refused to include universal military training in the army reorganization bill, which will be formally reported on Thursday by Chairman Kahn. Sharp opposition to the reorganization program is assured when the bill reaches the house floor, and it may be attacked earlier by a minority report.

In rejecting immediate consideration of the training plan, the committee voted that it should become the subject of separate legislation to be framed by a "friendly" subcommittee of seven named by Mr. Kahn, with an agreement of the leaders that its consideration would not be blocked after a thorough inquiry had been made of the cost and economic effects. This investigation is expected to delay action on the question until the next session.

With this disposal of universal training, the committee voted 10 to 6 to report the reorganization bill, providing for a maximum peace time army of 17,700 officers and 299,000 enlisted men, including the Philippine scouts and unassigned recruits. Unlike the national defense act of 1916, which the new bill would amend, no definite tactical formation of the army is prescribed, this being left discretionary with the president.

The reorganization bill recognizes aviation as a fourth arm of the army along with the infantry, cavalry, and artillery, each service headed by a major general. The tank corps is included in the infantry arm, and the chemical warfare becomes a separate corps to conduct experiments in gases. Other new services, developed during the war, are rejected or consolidated in the older branches. Liberal provisions for building up the National guard are carried in the bill. The reserve officers' training corps in schools and colleges, reserve training camps and the citizens' reserve are continued.

While the bill provides for a peace time army of more than 100,000 troops stronger than the defense act, even the supporters of the enlarged army were skeptical that it would soon become a reality. Some term it a "paper army," pointing out that the slow rate of recruiting since the armistice precluded the possibility of early enlistment of the new force. The combat strength is authorized to be 250,000 the remainder of the force being absorbed in the supply and administrative services, and the Philippine scouts and unassigned recruits. The infantry force is fixed at a maximum strength of 110,000 men and 4,200 officers, the cavalry at 20,500 men and 950 officers, and field artillery at 36,500 men and 1,900 officers, the coast artillery at 36,000 men and 1,200 officers, and the air service at 16,000 men, and 1,514 officers.

More than a billion dollars were spent during the first 10 months of 1919, for material for railroads under government control.

WEALTHY INDIAN IS VAMPED TO THE ALTAR

LO'S GUARDIAN SAYS HIS SPOUSE OF A DAY WORKED TOO FAST FOR HIS SLOW GOING BRAIN.

Coffeetown, Kan.—From milliner to wife of a millionaire and then the occupant of a cell in the Coffeetown jail was the strenuous twenty-four hour record of Mrs. Anna Laura Lowe-Barnett.

The cold and unromantic end of the bride's otherwise perfect day was because she is alleged to have enticed Jack Barnett, Oklahoma's richest Indian, into a marriage that C. J. O'Hornet, his guardian, has forbidden.

O'Hornet claims that Mrs. Barnett, with the ink hardly dry on her wedding certificate, vamped his Indian charge to the altar.

The millionaire Indian, whose oil leases are spouting him an income estimated at $150,000 a month, is non-committal. He merely granted affirmation of everything his bride said.

"I am as much Jack Barnett's wife as legal procedure can make me," said the woman, who claims 51 years, but looks to be on the sunny side of 20. "What is Uncle Sam to do about it? I am going back to Oklahoma and I am going with my husband."

Upon Barnett's return to Oklahoma steps will be taken to have the marriage annulled. Gabe Parker, superintendent of the five civilized tribes, stated, Barnett will be taken

The bride refused to reveal her home address. She wept copiously and called for her 60 year old husband of a day in a way that should have turned the government agents' hearts, but didn't.

"This woman joy ridden Jack to independence, Kas., and married him before he was conscious of what it was all about," said Superintendent Parker.

How to Keep Baby Smiling and Well

See that the daily functions are regular and normal

YOU can't expect the little ones to be happy and playful when the head feels dull and the stomach bloated. The normal habit of children is to be happy and when you notice them cross and fretful you will usually find constipation is responsible.

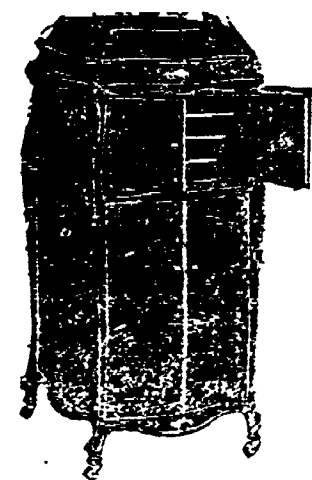

Perhaps they have missed that daily function so necessary to comfort and health. Look at the tongue and see if the breath is bad. Watch for belching. These are the tell-tale symptoms of constipation. Tonight give a little of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can buy at any drug store, and it will act in the morning and the troublesome symptoms promptly disappear.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. Unlike the harsher physics it acts gently and without griping so that while grownups can use it freely it can also be given to a tiny baby with perfect safety. Thousands of American families would not think of being without a bottle in the house for the emergency arises almost daily when it is needed.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

Lose To Little Chute
The Training school girls played a return game with the Little Chute high school girls Wednesday evening at the training school auditorium. A second game was played immediately following between the U. S. sophomore team and Training school second team. The game resulted in a tie score of 2 and 2. The teams attempted to play off the tie in an additional five minutes of play but failed.

I had numerous bad attacks due to bloating and had almost constant pain in my stomach before getting your remedy. I am feeling fine now. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. WORE NO SHOES FOR TWO YEARS

Los Angeles Woman Lived in Bed and Pillowed Chair Until She Started on Tanlac

"I had to be cared for just like a baby before I began taking Tanlac," said Mrs. Alice Murphy, of 1501 Pennsylvania Ave., Los Angeles, Cal. "Two years ago I had a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism," she continued, "and no one knows the pain and torture I have suffered since. My hands swelled until I could hardly work my fingers and I haven't been able to put on a pair of shoes because my feet were swollen so. I had sharp pains thru my back so bad that at times I simply could not keep from screaming. Sometimes I got so dizzy everything seemed to spin around and then I would have sharp pains and a chilly feeling afterwards. I was so helpless that I lived propped up with pillows in a chair or in bed all the time and had to be helped from one place to another."

"I tried every medicine or treatment we could hear of but it was money thrown away and I got so blue I did not care to live. Then my husband read in the papers about Tanlac and by the time I had taken it four or five days I saw it was helping me. Now, after taking several bottles, I can't praise Tanlac enough. My nerves are so much better I sleep like a child all night long. I am already doing my housework again and it is the first time in two years I have been able to get around at all and wear my shoes."

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by John E. Voigt and by leading druggists in every town.

BAD ROADS DELAY START OF COLD STORAGE PLANT

Otto Rohm, President of County Union of Equity, Says, Bad Roads and Illness Have Retarded Work

Otto Rohm of Black Creek, president of the Outagamie Union of the American Society of Equity, who acted as chairman of the meeting called the purpose of considering the advisability of building a $200,000 cold storage plant in Appleton, is attending the county board meeting this week. He says that so far as he knows no steps have been taken yet toward the building of the plant even to dispose of the necessary stock. This has been due to the condition of roads and prevalence of flu. He expects, however, that steps will be taken to erect the new plant as soon as conditions are favorable.

Mr. Rohm was at Ogdensburg a few nights ago and delivered an address before the Equity local there. He said that the spirit of "secession" which is evident in some parts of the state, has not made its appearance there and that the members are loyal to the state organization.

The buyer of one or many trucks can have no better guide than the experience of those whose trucking volume affords a comparative knowledge of results.

Following is a list of White Trucks in service of Standard Oil Company. The last column includes only the first three months of 1919:

INSIST ON GETTING IT

Silver Fox Blended Coffee is a home production, roasted and packed right here in your own city. It is as good a coffee as you can get from any where else, and the price 50c per pound is moderate and modest, leaving the roaster only a small margin for his work, and the retail grocer no more than his just due for distribution. It is our aim to have it in every store in town, but if your grocer does not keep it, call us up and we will furnish you a list of those that do.

HERE IS A HINT TO HOUSEWIVES WHO DISLIKE STAINED FINGERS

A large-sized cork is an excellent thing to use for scouring the knives and forks and pots and pans.

The firmness of the cork gives one something to hold to and alleviates the cramping of one's fingers.

Aside from the physical comfort gained by the use of a cork the mental relief is great. There is no danger of blackened and roughened fingers! One's fingers don't come in contact with the scouring powder at all. The cork does not absorb the powder and transfer it to fingers the way a cloth does.

It's not that a housekeeper objects to her calling and hates to advertise it by stained hands. It's merely that unsightly hands and finger-nails are distasteful to her and for her own sake she tries to avoid them. And if a cork helps, why not a cork?

Menu for Tomorrow

BREAKFAST—Halves of grapefruit, bacon, creamed potatoes, graham gems, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Mock oyster salad, health bread and butter sandwiches, Sadie's pudding, tea.

DINNER—Left-over soup, Salisbury steak, baked squash, candied, canned peaches and fudge cake, coffee.

My Own Recipes

In this menu potatoes are omitted because there is enough starch in the rest of the food. Squash is a starchy vegetable and the rice in the soup furnishes more starch. If another vegetable is necessary due to the vagary of some members of the family use asparagus, peas or string beans.

MOCK OYSTER SALAD
4 roots oyster-plant
3-4 cup diced celery
2 pimientos
1-4 cup walnut meats
French dressing
Shredded lettuce

Scrub the oyster-plant and boil until tender. Dip into cold water and rub off the skin. Cut into half-inch slices. Mix oyster-plant and celery and pour over French dressing. Let stand about 30 minutes.

Arrange on lettuce, cut pimientos into strips and add to salad. Sprinkle with nuts.

SADIE'S PUDDING
3 cups hot milk
2 tablespoons granulated gelatin
1-2 cup cold milk
2 eggs
1-4 cup sugar
1-2 cup boiled chestnuts
1 slice candied pineapple
1-2 teaspoon salt.

Dissolve gelatin in cold milk and add to milk when it reaches the boiling point. Stir well and add egg yolks well beaten with sugar and salt. When the mixture begins to thicken add chestnuts which have been boiled, peeled and chopped. Add the pineapple (shredded). Cook a minute longer, stirring vigorously. Remove from the fire and add the whites of the eggs, beaten till stiff and dry. Turn into a mold and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

Travelers say that nowhere in the world is coffee, as a drink, worse than in Java, where the coffee bean is supposed to be at its very best.

HERE'S NEW DESIGN IN LACE PATTERN

Washington's Liberty Bell Pattern

Chain 10 and connect, thus making a ring.

Chain 5 and double-crochet twice into the ring, chain 3 and double-crochet three times into the same ring.

Chain 5 and double-crochet 3 times into the space made by crocheting the last row.

Chain 5 and do the same as in the last row.

Chain 5 and double-crochet eight times into the five chain stitches made when you made the second row. Chain 5 stitches and turn. Then triple-crochet between each of the stitches of the previous row, chain 5, turn and double-crochet between each stitch, making two chain stitches between each double stitch, this will make seven spaces at the bottom of the bell.

Turn and single-crochet twice into each space and once on each double-crochet, making a picot of five chains in the middle of the fourth space. Chain 11 stitches and come to the top of the lace and double-crochet into the space made by the 3 chain stitches, as done in starting the lace.

LABOR CANDIDATES IN CITY ELECTION, RUMOR

It is claimed that the labor unions will have one or more candidates in the field at the coming municipal election, but it has not been announced what offices will be sought by them. As they have served only one term it is generally taken for granted that all present incumbents will seek re-election. Monday, March 8, is the last day that nomination papers can be filed.

Smoking was at one time a penal offense in Turkey.
